In Brief

Leech Tishman trial lawyers are focused and trained to respond to the inquiries of judges with accuracy, clarity and brevity. Our team has experience in handling a variety of complex commercial litigation matters locally, nationally and internationally for companies ranging from emerging enterprises to multi-national corporations in a wide range of industry sectors. We understand the time, effort and cost involved in litigation, and we work, when possible, through engagement in active negotiation with the opposing party or through alternative dispute resolution proceedings.

Our lawyers have a wealth of trial experience at the local, state, federal and appellate level. Our attorneys have argued before the Supreme Court of the United States, as well as numerous state and federal appellate courts, including every appellate court in Pennsylvania.
