

Intellectual Property

Leech Tishman's Intellectual Property attorneys are dedicated to the protection and monetization of your intellectual property.

Where Innovation Finds Protection[®]

In Brief

Many of our registered patent attorneys have technical degrees enabling them to truly understand the complex technical details of your idea. Several bring engineering expertise, others molecular biology, manufacturing, or business experience to your trademark, computer science, copyright, patent prosecution, trade secret, and litigation matters, both domestic and international.

Our clients range from individual inventors, authors and owners of creative works to entrepreneurial enterprises, government entities, universities, mid-sized corporations and Global Fortune 500 companies with operations throughout North and Central America, Europe, South Asia, the Far East and Australia. We have serviced a vast array of industries and are committed to providing you with strategic counseling and personal attention throughout the entire lifecycle of your project.

We are proud of our longstanding relationships with local innovation communities and enjoy working with entrepreneurs and businesses who wish to protect their ideas and good names.
